Alternative World Football [Soccer] Cups

What does Monaco, Lapland, Occitania, Southern Cameroun, and Kiribati have in common?

They are going to be the nations participating in the Viva World Cup.

The Viva World Cup is an alternative to the FIFA World Cup as these nations have had problems participating in the FIFA World Cup.

Monaco has even asked the question why it cannot be included in the FIFA Membership Rosters while countries such as Andorra, and Faeroe Islands can be included.

Lapland [Samiland] as well as Southern Camerouns and Occitania [Southern France and the Italian Alps] will be participating.

The First Game will be between Monaco and Southern Camerouns on 20 Novembwer 2006.

There will be another World Cup played in the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus with Tibet and Zanzibar participating.

For those who want to place a political agenda on these games, I am only reporting on alternative football games as a way of promoting football.
